Course Load and Credit System

As a Study Abroad or exchange student you may choose from any of the courses we offer, as long as you have the appropriate preparation, and you must study full-time.

Undergraduate students

Almost all undergraduate courses are 15 credits each, and most students will enrol in 60 credits per semester (four courses). The minimum number of credits you may study in a semester is 45 (three courses).

You can choose from courses at the 100 level (first year), 200 level (second year), or 300 level (third year). Check the prerequisites for each course at the 200 and 300 levels to ensure you have suitable preparation.

Postgraduate students

Postgraduate courses are at the 600 level and are 20 credits. Students enrol in three courses per semester.

Courses and Timetable

At the start of each semester you will have access to course outlines. The Study Abroad and Exchange Coordinator can provide you with copies earlier on request. These may not be the final versions but would be suitable for a pre-approval process at your home university.

On arrival you'll have an opportunity to discuss your course selections with Lincoln's academic staff and you'll still be able to make changes during the first week of the semester.

For more information about our courses, see:
www.lincoln.ac.nz/courses

See a timetable of courses here:

Visa

International students must hold a current and valid student visa. You will need to apply for your student visa before you arrive.

Please check the INZ website for further details:

All Lincoln University international students are automatically insured with Studentsafe University.

You do not need to apply or fill out an application form. Please note if you have a pre-existing condition, you need to complete an assessment form for additional cover.

If you have an insurance policy that meets the requirements to satisfy the New Zealand Ministry of Education, complete the Insurance Policy Assessment Application Form.
